Voice on the Go® Offers Hands-Free Voice Access to Email While Driving
Complies with Proposed Ontario Handheld Cell Phone Ban

TORONTO, Ont. – October 28, 2008 – Voice on the Go Inc., one of the fastest growing mobile voice applications worldwide, today announced that drivers in Ontario can now listen to their email and comply with Ontario’s planned legislation to ban handheld cell phone use while driving.

Voice on the Go offers Ontario drivers hands-free voice access to email, contacts, calendar and more. Voice on the Go works with any mobile phone including BlackBerry® smartphone, Apple® iPhone™, Windows Mobile® and Symbian™ devices, on any carrier network and supports most popular email services. Voice on the Go can be activated quickly with no voice training, no special hardware or software to download.

Voice on the Go allows users to listen to their email and reply by voice. Users can compose, forward, delete and reply to emails, search contacts, place calls and more - quickly, easily and legally using only voice commands.

“There has been tremendous interest in Voice on the Go from countries and States where cell phone driving bans are already in place” says John McLeod, CEO of Voice on the Go. “With Voice on the Go, our users keep their hands on the wheel and eyes on the road. There is no need to hold or look at your phone to access content. Users can simply put on their headset, start talking to the system and go.”

Ontario drivers can now listen to their email rather than reading it on their mobile device without facing fines and demerit points, for just $5.99 a month!
